Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 03 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Starting cloudy, but bright with some sunshine for most later.

Today:
A cloudy start to the day, with a risk of some patchy rain or drizzle around the Kent coasts. Brightening up for much of the region through the day, best of any sunny spells towards the Channel coasts. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Tonight:
Patchy cloud to the north and towards some coasts. Otherwise a generally dry night with clear spells, allowing isolated fog patches to develop. Minimum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Saturday:
Any overnight cloud soon breaking to leave a bright day with long spells of sunshine. A risk of an isolated light shower in the west. Turning breezy towards the coast. Maximum temperature 24 deg C (75 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Dry and bright with sunny spells Sunday, perhaps a little breezy. Fine through Monday and Tuesday with long periods of sunshine and feeling warm or very warm.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.